

Drawn together, tidied apart

The crayon box,
Next to the socks,
Living room floor,
Number 44,
Rainbow Street

I'm writing to say; when they tidied away, putting me next to Red, I craved you instead.
Now I'm bluer than blue, as I'm not here with you.

You're the sun to my sky, and I just don't know why...you're put back with White, night after night. I tried telling Black, that I must have you back, but he just pulled a face, and sketched out some space.

It's breaking my heart, that we can't make art, us causing a scene, by making some green. Is there an end to my sorrow, when we're tipped out tomorrow? Surely it's time, that your wax touches mine! Then beside me you'll stay, when we're tidied away...

Or what would I do?
Your tormented boy Blue.

Vile Valentine

Vile vile Valentine,
Slippy sloppy kiss.
Hearts and bows and scented rose...
Boo!
Yuck!
Hissi

Vile vile valentine,
Sign it with a kiss.
Hearts-in-shards through lack of cards...
Boo!
Yuck!
Hissi

Dress me up as Frankenstein,
Valentine's day missed.
No girls or guys or pink surprise...
Oo,
Lushi!
Blissi!

Lonely Hand Ad

Left hand, seeking right hand,
For company and,
Clapping.

Desirable: Potty for spotty gloves.
As my ex-right hand now loves,
Right nostril.

Folding instructions for the Valentines Poems mini-booklet

1. Print page 1 and 2 of this PDF. Page 1 is the mini-booklet to be folded into a booklet, page 2 (this page) is the folding instructions.

2. Fold page 1 down the centre using the longest dotted line as a guide, fold the page so that the blank back is no longer visible, and the poems are visible.

3. Now fold along the remaining short dotted line, fold the page so that the two poems 'Vile Valentine' and 'Drawn together, tidied apart' are not visible, and the cover and back page are visible.

4. Check that your booklet looks like the one at right, then close it and run your thumb along the creases so that the fold becomes flatter and you have a book.

Happy reading!
